The University of Saskatchewan

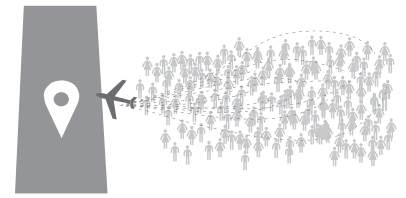

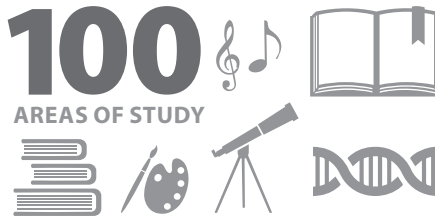

At the University of Saskatchewan (uSask), we know we are doing something important. This is a place where students can do more than prepare for a future career or earn a degree in nearly 100 areas of study. At uSask, students have the opportunity to contribute directly to the world's knowledge while working alongside renowned faculty in some of the most advanced research and education facilities in the country.

More than 24,000 students from around the world are pursuing an education at this prestigious institution.

The influence of our more than 150,000 living alumni can be felt worldwide, where uSask graduates are using their knowledge and experience in many diverse fields, from cutting-edge computer science to the highest ranks of government.

No matter their passion and goals, students can find the support and expertise at uSask to succeed and are invited to join our community as we create, innovate, discover and explore the world around us.
